

Doomsday is cancelled.

Again

The twentieth century has seen many predictions of global destruction. In the 1930's, some scientists claimed we were in the middle of a disastrous warming trend. In the mid 1970's, others were sure we were entering a new Ice Age. And so on. It's the same with global warming. There's no hard evidence it is occurring. In fact, evidence that Earth is warming is weak. Proof that carbon dioxide has been the primary cause is non-existent. Climate models cannot accurately predict far-future global change. And the underlying physics of the climatic change are still wide open to debate.

If you care about the environment, but don't care to be pressured into spending money on problems that don't exist, make sure you get the facts.

Who told you the earth was warming... Chicken Little?

Chicken Little's hysteria about the sky falling was based on a fact that got blown out of proportion.

The most serious problem with catastrophic global warming is— it may not be true.

Some say the Earth's temperature may rise catastrophically global warming in the years ahead.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture—in the first part of its "Plant Hardiness Report" issued on both coasts of this country, reports that temperatures are 5 to 10 degrees cooler than in the past.

There has been an increase in cold weather in orange groves and California moving frost line has led to a loss of citrus in some parts of the South.

Some climatologists. But facts like these with the theory that catastrophic global warming is taking place. Which seems to be the case. And more evidence

If you care about the Earth—but want to keep a cool head about it—now is your chance to get more facts.
